

NOTICE

Concerning restrictions on music playback via the KlipXtreme App in mobile devices running on iOS due to limitations established by third-party copyright owners or licensees.

Some audio files added to your playlist in the Klipxtreme application may have been purchased or downloaded from third-party applications such as Apple Music, iTunes, Tidal, Amazon music or Pandora, among others, and their use may be subject to copyright restrictions enforced by the developers of these applications or by the copyright holders or licensees. In such cases, the said audio files will not play directly in the Klipxtreme application.

You will be able to add songs on your iOS mobile device manually, according to the method established by the Apple developer. Please go to Apple's support page for more information in this respect.

On the other hand, the Equalizer and Active Noise Cancellation (ANC) functions, as well as the Transparency Mode, will work from the Klipxtreme application without problems. This means you can play music from other apps while controlling equalization and noise cancellation from the Klipxtreme app.
